AWESOME stories

THE ANDREA GAIL

0. THE ANDREA GAIL - Story Preface

1. THE ANDREA GAIL

2. LONG-LINING for SWORDFISH

3. PREDICTING BAD WEATHER

4. PREDICTING DANGEROUS STORMS

5. THE PERFECT STORM DEVELOPS

6. DEATH ON THE HIGH SEAS

7. ANOTHER MAELSTROM

8. RESCUE EFFORTS AT SEA

9. THE UNNAMED HURRICANE

10. NEIGHBORS IN DEATH

"Fishing on the Grand Banks," illustration by Le Breton, from Voyage a Terre Neuve ("Journey to Newfoundland"), published in 1860 by Arthur comte de Gobineau (at page 409). Online, courtesy Memorial University of Newfoundland.

When fishing boats are in the North Atlantic Grand Banks, they are days away from land. Captains cannot "make a run" for safe harbor when storms strike. There are no harbors at sea.

Like generations of fishermen before them, Billy Tyne and his five experienced crewmen knew that fact when they left Gloucester harbor in late September 1991. All sword fishermen know. It goes with the job.

Andrea Gail, the ship which was lost during 1991's "Perfect Storm." Photo online, courtesy US Coast Guard.

Billy was skipper of the Andrea Gail, a 72-foot "long-liner." Loaded with ice from Cape Pond Ice (whose t-shirts are featured in the movie) and enough supplies to last the long trip, the Andrea Gail was making the last Grand Banks run of the season. The crew hoped it would be profitable. The sooner they got the catch they needed (more than 40,000 pounds of swordfish), the sooner they could get back home.

Although they left Gloucester at different times, the Andrea Gail was part of a "fleet" of about twenty-five swordfishing vessels. Her sister ship, the Hannah Boden, was a 100-foot long-liner skippered by Linda Greenlaw, the only woman captain in the fleet. Bob Brown owned both boats.

Swordfishing crews share the profits of each trip. Once the owner and supplies are taken care of, everyone else splits what's left. The hope is something's left. Sometimes the profits are great. Sometimes they're slim.

On this last trip of the season, Billy Tyne and his crew weren't catching as many fish as they needed to come home quickly. By the middle of October, they barely had enough swordfish on board to break even. But pounds of fish would soon be the least of worries for these long-liners.

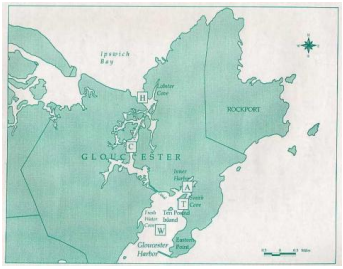

See Alignments to State and Common Core standards for this story online at:
http://www.awesomestories.com/asset/AcademicAlignment/THE-ANDREA-GAIL-Perfect-Storm-The

See Learning Tasks for this story online at:
http://www.awesomestories.com/asset/AcademicActivities/THE-ANDREA-GAIL-Perfect-Storm-The

Media Stream

They That Go Down To The Sea In Ships - Statue
Image online, courtesy Wikimedia Commons. License: CC BY-SA 2.5.
View this asset at:
http://www.awesomestories.com/asset/view/They-That-Go-Down-To-The-Sea-In-Ships-Statue

Perfect Storm - Gloucester Harbor, Map Locator
Image online, courtesy the Harbormasters.org website.
View this asset at:
http://www.awesomestories.com/asset/view/Perfect-Storm-Gloucester-Harbor-Map-Locator

Andrea Gail - Ship Lost at Sea During the Perfect Storm
Copyrighted Photo of the Andrea Gail, by Les Nagy, is used here with Les Nagy's permission.
Should anyone wish to use the photo, for any purpose, you must contact Les Nagy directly.
View this asset at:
http://www.awesomestories.com/asset/view/Andrea-Gail-Ship-Lost-at-Sea-During-the-Perfect-Storm

The Perfect Storm - Grand Banks, Map Locator
Image online, courtesy Neptune's Needle website.
View this asset at:
http://www.awesomestories.com/asset/view/The-Perfect-Storm-Grand-Banks-Map-Locator

Gloucester - Inner Harbor

Image online, courtesy the Society of Sofia website.

View this asset at: http://www.awesomestories.com/asset/view/Gloucester-Inner-Harbor

Hannah Boden - Sister Ship to the Andrea Gail

Image online, courtesy the hannaboden.com website.

View this asset at:
http://www.awesomestories.com/asset/view/Hannah-Boden-Sister-Ship-to-the-Andrea-Gail