

Credits:

Image online, courtesy Robben Island Museum.

A note about the photo. In his book, Long Walk to Freedom, Mandela tells us that it was taken "in the prison yard, 1966." (See the photo section, following page 322.)

Other sources, including Nelson Mandela: A Life in Photographs (Hardcover), by David Elliot Cohen and John D. Battersby, state the picture was taken in 1964 by a photographer working for the Daily Telegraph, a British newspaper. It was, the authors say, the only day Mandela agreed to be photographed during his 27 years of confinement.

Quoted passages, from Mandela's autobiography, Long Walk to Freedom.

See Alignments to State and Common Core standards for this story online at:

<http://www.awesomestories.com/asset/AcademicAlignment/Mandela-and-Sisulu-Robben-Island>

See Learning Tasks for this story online at:

<http://www.awesomestories.com/asset/AcademicActivities/Mandela-and-Sisulu-Robben-Island>